

Indian Summer Rideout 5th. October 2008

This year's Indian Summer Rideout was anotherÂ great success and certainly gave us the chance to see the whole range of Welsh weather and scenery in one day. The two foot puddle in Lower Chapel certainly cleaned the engines off, but gave Sonic's Suzuki a bit of a cold.

Dickie's new two tone upholstery looks very smart - we think brown's a much nicer colour than blue, Dickie. Stuartf narrowly avoided a throbbing after wagging a finger at a biker with a back patch that looked quite a bit like Throbber ... but wasn't. Stefo also put in his first appearance - mostly on one wheel.

Baza's new Doctor Who uniform drew lots of attention and the polite chink of teacups and offers ofÂ blueberry muffins did wonders for theÂ image of bikers.

A big thanks to Stewie for planning out the route and R2 for taking pics, Bumpkin for leading the ride, Bomber for making sure nobody got lost and T.Mac for roving photography. To see what you missed click here for the video.
