

Easter Rideout 2014

Our annual Easter Monday Rideout took us to new and uncharted territory with a lot of help from Daveredhunter (and just a little from Mavis the satnav).

We stopped off on the way in the best kept village of 1980 (!) (see if you can spot it in the video) then found a very posh tearoom in Lampeter. We also called in at the Gwili Steam Railway, but Mike the bike's allergy to steam trains caused a few problems - check out the Caption Competition on our Facebook Page. We hope R2 can now finally overcome her anxiety by at least taking a remote look inside the Internal Fire Museum of Power via our YouTube video.
